

Andrew Rosenthal
Media Brief Write Up

For my artifacts this week, I have stuck with the theme of internet vulnerability in Pennsylvania. As COVID is coming to a social end, it will be interesting to see how the internet as a right will play out in public discourse. All articles were found googling terms such as “digital divide”, “Comcast” and “Internet Pennsylvania.” My article on internet access in Pennsylvania discusses how Biden’s infrastructure bill will attempt to alleviate the digital divide in Pennsylvania. My article on Comcast’s profits shows how ISPs have profited significantly from the pandemic, and my last article shows that Pennsylvania is continuing to expand its internet accessibility program. My articles focus on the pandemic, more specifically where we go next in a “post COVID” united states.